The world-renowned health and wellness professionals at Mandarin Oriental have teamed up with the private club and hospitality team at Penn-Florida, and in concert with Dr. Lisa Corsa, a recognized leader in the science of biomechanics, have created a unique and proprietary wellness program exclusively offered at the new Mandarin Oriental Hotel and Via Mizner Golf and City Club in Boca Raton Florida.

The program

welcomes discerning individuals and families from all over the world to experience individual physical assessments and treatments.

These programs focus on the correction and improvement of muscle symmetry by altering the length-tension relationship of targeted muscles and ligaments through customized treatment plans designed and executed by Dr. Corsa and her team in order to improve the biomechanical functions of the body. Short-term benefits include pain relief, accelerated healing, improved athleticism, flexibility, and strength. Long-term benefits range from injury avoidance and prevention of inflammation-related discomfort to the avoidance of arthritic symptoms and overall improvement of health and wellness.

Via Mizner

The program will be offered at Via Mizner, the world-class urban resort in Boca Raton which will be completed in early 2022, featuring the new Mandarin Oriental hotel and Via Mizner City Club. Participants in this very unique offering will receive assessments and treatment at the private Athletic Club and Mandarin Oriental Spa facilities located inside the new Mandarin Oriental Hotel. Accommodations will be available to the extent treatment programs involve extended care or training.
